██████████ was in to discuss possibilities of taking the ██████████ off their A-12's and he talked about this with ██████████. It looks to me somewhat as maybe this is the first step in the erosion of all that material off the airplane and we ought to keep closely in on it. I told ██████████ a couple of days ago that ██████████ was preparing to fall back and regroup in a basic way to determine what could be done and ██████████ seemed to feel that this was the right way to go and rather delighted about the whole thing as opposed to a cut-and-try method. You might want to get to ██████████ or whoever was at that meeting and get a brief rundown so we keep close to the ground swells on this thing.
